Q: When is a zoning hearing required?

A: A hearing is scheduled when an application does not meet all requirements of the zoning ordinance and will need a variance or a conditional use permit granted by the Board before construction may begin.

If the application follows all elements of the zoning ordinance, the permit may be granted by the Zoning Director without a hearing.

Q: What type of construction needs a permit?

A: A permit is required for the construction or moving in of any structure or whenever the outside dimensions of an existing building are altered.

The permitting process was set up to promote the health, safety, and well-being of the citizens and to promote the sound and desirable use of lands of Golden Valley County.

Q: Do I need a zoning permit for a mobile home?

A: Before a mobile home may be moved into the county, a zoning permit is required just like in new construction.

Mobile homes also require Moving Permits when moved within and outside of the county as well as Mobile Home Registrations when first brought into the county.

For further details, contact the County Tax Director.

Q: What is a variance?

A: A variance is needed if the building proposal does not meet ordinance requirements and cannot reasonably be changed to meet standards.

EXAMPLE:

Constructing a building within the county right-of-way setbacks.

Q: What is a conditional use permit?

A: Use of lands or structures which are not considered a desired use of lands or structures within a described zoning district but deemed allowable by the Golden Valley County Board of County Commissioners and appropriate city council shall be known as conditional uses, and shall require a permit acquired through the procedure described in Section 5.5.2. and a public hearing with proper notice.
